

Eat Wild and Live Healthfully!

By Luke Krcil

Ever try to figure out why your health is not up to par? Have you accumulated quantities of different dietary supplements with the hope of finally solving some recurring health problem? The answer may be simpler than our human cleverness has surmised it to be.

Nature knows best. For all the great revelations of science, most workings of complex natural phenomena remain unknown and beyond human understanding. This includes the human mind, body and spirit. Our best answers to dynamic health lie in supporting Nature's infinite wisdom.

Enter the Rainforest Health Pak™ ~ a product with a story. Actually it is more than a product. It is a complete wild foods program coming from the Amazon Rainforest, the grand mother of powerful, healing plants. Here is how this program came to be.

Adventurer and treasure hunter, "Amazon John" Easterling, stumbled into a Shipibo Indian village deep within the Rainforest ill with a recurring fever he often suffered. He had almost died earlier in his life from a bout with hepatitis and Rock Mountain Spotted Fever. The Shipibo people fed him teas of uña de gato, chanca piedra and other Rainforest plants. He recovered from his illness, in fact experiencing an entirely new level of health after only two weeks.

Beyond his healing, he gained an appreciation for the real treasure of the Rainforest, the plants that grow there. His new search led him to Nicole Maxwell, 40-year ethno botanist, who had befriended the medicine people of the Rainforest to learn their plant secrets.

This meeting with Maxwell spawned the Amazon Herb Company that since has developed a partnership with native peoples of the Rainforest to ecologically harvest life-saving botanicals as a sustainable alternative to selling the forest for logging.

We get healthy. The Tribes preserve their culture, land and the Rainforest. Everybody wins.

Eleven years of doctors and herbalist studying what ails us in the modern world, comparing notes with shamans and reviewing botanical research, lead to the development of an unprecedented health maintenance program. It is filled with unique phyto-nutrients and minerals. It is whole and wild, the strongest of its species by definition ~ just as nature intended.

The first formula in this program, Shipibo Treause Tea™, contains jatoba, an herb that has shown anti-fungal properties. Candida is a fungus. This tea contains six powerful herbs and parallels the formula given to Easterling by the Shipibo. The benefits are stronger immune activity, energy and mental clarity.

Fiberzon™ offers a gentle cleaning of the colon without the need for laxatives. Suitable for everyone, it contains one-half natural plant fiber and one-half herbs. Among them: chanca piedra or quebra pedra, considered infallible for dissolving kidney and gallstones in South America. And, boldo, which stimulates bile production. And, camu camu, which contains 1000 times more, Vitamin C than an orange. This is just a sampling.

Illumination™, a whole body tonic, contains five individual formulas that support detoxification, metabolism, digestion, immune activity and calming/stress reduction. We consider it the shaman's top 40.

Sumacazon™, combines herbs from the Rainforest and the Andean Highlands. Considered an endocrine support, people report its energy and anti-aging benefits. Its ingredients include suma, maca and muira puama, all containing substantial amounts of vitality-producing natural plant sterols.

The fifth, Aquazon™, combines wild algae foods from lake and sea ~ other pristine ecosystems. Research shows an array of immune-enhancing, anti-inflammatory and anti-oxidant benefits.

The result, a program that addresses 90% of the underlying nutritional causes of symptoms of ill health and their complex relationships, all without having to understand them. Many doctors love not having to diagnose and treat disease, opting instead for giving the body everything it requires to balance itself. Health enthusiasts appreciate its simplicity, affordability and effectiveness. The eco-conscious appreciates being able to purchase products that contribute to a healthy planet.

For your free sample of Rainforest herbs and information on the Rainforest Health Pak™, call (800) 239-5859 or visit www.amazonherbshop.com. Wholesale pricing and distributor opportunities are available.